Learning Management System supported by E-commerce

Business Challenge

Our client Learning Moments, Inc., serves clients in a variety of industries with learning, executive coaching and consulting services.

The scope of services offered by TMI has ranged from strategic planning to executive recruiting, from leadership development workshops to a twelve-month leadership development process, from reducing recruiting expenses through a proven job analysis process to increasing sales skills and strategy, from assessing leaders with a web-based 360 or assessing teams with Extended DISC, from small to large, from industry to industry TMI has grown primarily through repeat business and word of mouth.

Our client wanted their services and communication with their clients to a whole new level. So TMI wanted to launch a new website to provide on-line, support, communication and tools for current and future clients.

JIVA's Solution

We developed a website that offer twelve on-line development hours for employees and leaders. It provides 24/7 support for supervisors, managers and executives. Additionally, we developed an assessment module which can be utilized conveniently on-line and purchased by corporate account or credit card.

Business Impact

To have an uninterrupted video streaming and secure and distributed computing, we used Symphony Software, which is High-performance Computing Software system. To keep the hackers away from hacking the videos and the content of the site we used MVC framework.

To facilitate the users to purchase the products and services of the client, we integrated a PayPal payment gateway to the site. All-in-all we provided an end-to-end solution to the client for their future business growth.
